GIVE ME A CALL.

THAT WHICH IS SYMBOLED.

Looking, looking, all of a heart in her wistful eyes.
Hers the secret that scarcely myself yet dared surmise;
The pitiful secret unyielded by sign or breath.
Dear, so dearl there are harder things than death.
This, beloved, that I should read you the truth
That the breath of death may winter the rose of youth
Makes bitter ruth!

Silent stood we under the noon of an August sun,
Breathless, breathless, withered the earth of ashen and dun;
From the sharp incurve of the hills that leaned to the south
To the lessened lake, drained low by the months of drouth,
From the steel dark blue of the heaven above the head,
To the grasses yellowed and brittle beneath our tread,
The land was dead.

Save this: She led me out where her flowers curled,
Pitiful, pale, with wonderful colors furled,
Past scarlet roses crisped to the iron rust red,
Past heartsease, lilacs and jonquils drooped and dead,
Till we came to the breast spot of her garden place,
Where the zenithed sun and the flowers met face to face
In the circled space.

Save this: The life of the land lay centered here,
From far was focused into this marvelous near;
Those white petunias, pallid as dreams of pearl
With rose tints faint where the delicate leaves curl,
Quivering, changing, with shadows of silver gloom,
Faint stirred by the subtle breath of their own perfume,
Drew life from doom.

Save this: "Earth's tremulous soul, beloved," I said,
"Goes to our eyes, in this, that the land lies dead.
From the vault and the flame these flowers of dawn and dew.
From the breath of death this rapture of life anew?"
And looking up my sad love's sorrowful face
Was one with the flowers for dews of dawn and grace,
In the circled space.

Negroes and Spells.

The superstitious fear of "cunj'rers" among southern negroes is more widespread than most people know, or than the believers will admit. In the eastern or coast counties this is greater than elsewhere. It is said that this is due to the fact that the last slaves brought from Africa were taken to that section. The bottles filled with dried toads, lizards and other unpleasant things buried in the center of gateways or in paths are more numerous than people not superstitious have any idea of. Cases have occurred where such things were buried on all four sides of a house frequently left by its owner, and the fact was duly made known to the neighbors, and the place was never entered save by the owner until the latter removed the spell. Of course the great mass of the negroes are too intelligent to believe any of these things, and they are doing a vast deal, as they have done, to stamp out such foolish beliefs. The belief in "de rabbit's foot" is quite generally known, and with not a few persons is most sincere. Persons who ofttimes would be ashamed to confess it carry a rabbit's foot.—Washington Star.

Tapestry Wall Paper.

The most expensive wall paper is tapestry, some of the older specimens of which are worth thousands of dollars. Only a short while since some magnificent specimens were discovered on the walls of an office in Lisbon and sent to the National museum. They are valued at $35,000 and represent the trial of Marcus Aurelius, the coronation of Marcus Aurelius, Marcus Aurelius rebuking Faustinian and one of his battles. Each has allegories on one side. The letters of the legends are yellow on a brown ground. No sign or mark to show either age or maker can be found, but they are believed to date from the reign of Don Juan V—1706 to 1750.—New York Herald.

Chinese and Pigeon English.

There is no such thing as a Chinese language any more than there is a European language. A Canton man cannot understand an Amoy man, and I have seen two Chinamen sitting together with a third one acting as an interpreter. Pigeon English is the common tongue of commerce. It has a vocabulary of less than 1,000 words, but is sufficiently flexible to answer any purpose.—Washington Post.

Only on two occasions has England gone to war to aid a weaker nation. The first was when Elizabeth sent an expedition to the relief of the Dutch and Flemings to help them against the encroachments of Philip II of Spain. The second was the war of Greek independence in 1827.

The Massachusetts Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals offers $20 for evidence which shall convict a boy for stealing family cats and $50 for evidence which will convict any medical student of practicing vivisection on any such cat.

P. Silvert of Dohlen, Saxony, proposes the manufacture of glass pipes by rolling down molten glass in grooves or flutes and using a core to complete the formation of the pipe or tube.

Parisian shopkeepers say that photographs of actresses and society women are sold in large numbers, but that pictures of public men are rarely purchased.

About $50,000 are annually restored to the owners from letters sent to the dead letter office.

WORSE THAN CHEWING GUM.

The Evil Effects of Masticating Paper Illustrated by an Old Story.

In the time of Charles XII of Sweden the private secretary of Count Goertz, then minister to England, was strongly addicted to the habit of chewing paper. Goertz had made the young man's acquaintance on a journey to Courland. He was the son of a landed proprietor named Buehren. Count Goertz took him to Stockholm and gave him a place in the cabinet. At first the young secretary chewed only white paper, but soon acquired a liking for paper even that had been written on.

A peace treaty had been formulated between Russia and Sweden, which the members of the assembly forced Charles XII to accept. The basis of the latter was a treaty which both states had agreed upon with regard to Finland. The original of this treaty was given by Count Goertz to his young secretary. When it was called for by the assembly, it could nowhere be found. The assembly believed that it had been destroyed by Goertz in order to overthrow the peace policy and give Charles XII a chance to go to war. Goertz was arrested, when his secretary came forward and confessed having masticated the document. He was tried and sentenced to death. The king would gladly have pardoned him had he dared in the face of the angry assembly, but he gave him an opportunity to flee from the country.

Buehren went to Courland with a letter of recommendation to the duke from Minister Goertz. The latter, believing that his severe punishment had entirely cured him of the bad habit of chewing up documents, appointed the young man secretary to his superintendent. When the duke, who was very extravagant in his expenditures, was notified by his superintendent of the hopeless condition of his finances, he asked for a statement of his affairs, and the young secretary was intrusted with all the bills, etc., to make up the statement. He again succumbed to his evil habit and chewed up one of the most important receipts among the duke's papers. In his despair he sought mercy at the hands of the beautiful duchess, Anna Ivanovna, the niece of Peter the Great, and she interceded for him with the duke.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Smart Chinaman.

"We have one of the smartest Chinamen in the country at Denver," said a gentleman at the Mansion hotel. "His name is Chinn Foo. He is very wealthy, but to judge from his clothes one would think him a candidate for the poorhouse. I was in the smoking room of a sleeper one day coming from Omaha to Denver when Chinn came in. The only other occupant was a real dude, of the one eyeglass, cigarette pattern.

"'Where are you going, John?' said the dude beamingly as Chinn sat down.

"'I am going to Denver, sir. Whither are you destined?' replied Chinn in the most graceful manner. Well, sir, his dudelets collapsed, and as soon as he could escaped. The fact is we, in our bigotness, think every Chinaman is an egregious idiot. The contrary is mostly true. They are capable of transacting almost any business, and sometimes exhibit a power seldom possible in an Englishman."—Fort Worth Gazette.

A Tricky Smuggler.

"Several years ago," said a treasury agent, "we suspected a man was smuggling diamonds from Canada. We called him into the office as soon as he left the ferryboat, examined the linings of his clothing and his person, from the rim of his hat to his toenails—every place of concealment we could think of—but to no purpose. We therefore came to the conclusion that we were misinformed and on the wrong scent. He went out of the office nonchalantly sucking an orange, which he had laid down while being inspected. A keen eyed lady detective attached to this department whispered to one of our officers, 'Suppose you try that orange.' It was done, and the man turned white with rage and disappointment when in it was found a small handful of the precious gems. In five minutes more we would have lost him."—New York Times.

Hygienic Cure For the Eyes.

Bathe the eyes every morning in cold water, keeping them closed. To put anything on the delicate eyeball without the advice of a reputable oculist is madness. For any disorder consult a physician at once. Delay may be fatal. For ordinary fatigue or inflammation a cold cloth will be soothing. Never work or read in too glaring or too weak a light. Rest the eyes occasionally by looking at a distant object. Never sleep facing a window. Many persons do so, and the consequence is weak and lusterless eyes, early awakening and often morning headaches.—New York Recorder.

Her Excuse.

"Well, I am very sorry you are not as happy as you expected to be, now you are married," said old Mr. Birmingham to his daughter, "but you will remember I told you to look before you leaped."

"I did look, papa," she replied, "but you know I always was near sighted."—Exchange.

Romance of a Bank Note.

Some 60 odd years ago the cashier of a Liverpool merchant received in tender for a business payment a Bank of England note which he held up to the scrutiny of the light, so as to make sure of its genuineness. He observed some partially indistinct red marks or words traced out on the front of the note beside the lettering and on the margin. Curiosity tempted him to try to decipher the words so inscribed. With great difficulty, so faintly written were they and so much obliterated, the words were found to form the following sentence: "If this note should fall into the hands of John Dean of Longhill, near Carlisle, he will learn hereby that his brother is languishing a prisoner at Algiers."

Mr. Dean, on being shown the note, lost no time in asking the government of the dey to make intercession for his brother's freedom. It appeared that for 11 long years the latter had been a slave to the dey of Algiers, and that his family and relatives believed him to be dead. With a piece of wood he had traced in his own blood on the bank note the message which was to procure his release. The government aided the efforts of his brother to set him free, this being accomplished on payment of a ransom to the dey.—New York Home Journal.

Powdered Metallic Arsenic.

It seems that recently powdered metallic arsenic, which in the process of powdering had been moistened with water to prevent dusting, exhibited the capability—not hitherto recorded—of spontaneous combustion, according to an account in a German scientific paper. A quantity of powdered arsenic had been received in a double paper bag late in the evening and set aside over night in a basket containing other articles packed in straw and sawdust.

On the following morning, upon opening the store, the peculiar garliclike odor attracted attention to the basket containing the powdered arsenic. An examination disclosed the fact that the arsenic had agglutinated to a solid glowing mass, and that the paper containers had been charred, a portion of the straw being also scorched. A number of bottles in the basket had also burst, owing to the high heat, and upon the charred paper bag were sublimed some beautiful crystals of arsenious oxide. A fire, which probably would have been attributed to some other cause, was in this case averted. — New York Sun.

The Rearing of Children.

The offices of children in the culture of their parents are manifold.

The influence of men and women upon each other become the most powerful agencies for their mutual harmonious growth.

Oh, there is something in loving dependent children, in tender care for them and in losing them, even, which bestows upon the soul the most enriching of its experiences.

There is, perhaps, nothing which so tends to soften the heart, to develop the kindlier affections and to unlock and chasten the sympathies of men and women as the children who sit around their table and frolic upon their knees.

There can be no true development of heart and mind where pure selfishness is the predominant principle, so God ordains that in each house there shall be little ones, more precious than all else, who shall engage the sympathy, tax the efforts and absorb the love of those who sustain to them the relation of parents.—J. G. Holland.

The Brown-Sequard Elixir.

The Riforma Medica, an Italian journal, gives results of a long series of experiments with the Brown-Sequard elixir and concludes that the liquid, injected hypodermically, has not the slightest lasting effect upon the human organism; that the trifling and transitory modifications of circulation, respiration, temperature and muscular power are explicable by the excitement and tension of the subject's mind; that any rare and transient improvement observed in the treatment of various organic diseases by this method was due to suggestion and the influence of imagination, to which causes alone is to be attributed the cure of some cases of hysteria and neurasthenia.

National Airs.

It is a strange thing that the national airs of great countries are short, while those of little countries are very long. For instance, "God Save the Queen" is 14 bars, the Russian hymn 16 bars, and "Hail, Columbia," the foremost among the American airs, has 28 bars. On the other hand, Siam's national hymn has 76 bars, that of Uruguay 70, Chili's 46, and so on. San Marino, the smallest republic in the world, has the longest national hymn. The national hymn of China is so long that, when people want to hear it, they have to take half a day off to be able to listen to its strains.—London Million.

Very Thin.

The Berlin gold beaters at the Paris exposition showed gold leaves so thin that it would require 282,000 to produce the thickness of a single inch, yet each leaf was so perfect and free from holes as to be impenetrable by the strongest electric light.—Exchange.

ALAMEDA now leads in the contest for the $5,000 cup.

PENNSYLVANIA rolled up 180,000 majority the other day for the Republican candidate for Congress at large.

It is now claimed that the amount taken by the Roscoe train robbers was not $20,000, but less than $2,000.

SENATOR WHITE found fault with the Wilson bill as it passed the House, and he promises amendments in the Senate favorably to California's interests.

CONGRESSMAN GEARY and Hon. Dennis Spencer of Napa are both being prominently mentioned as available candidates for the Democratic nomination of Governor.

BY a resolution passed by the Board of Directors of the Olympic Athletic Club of San Francisco, the 208 members who refused to pay an assessment of $10 each, will be expelled from the Club,

W. S. MONTGOMERY, formerly a well-known attorney in Stockton, but for several years past an inmate of the State Insane Asylum of that city, died last Tuesday at the age of fifty-three years. He was once District Attorney of San Joaquin county and was prominent in politics and law for a time.

JOHN L. HILDRETH, a California pioneer and well known to every old resident of the San Joaquin Valley, died at Pueblo, Col., one night last week, at the age of seventy years. The deceased had an adventurous career in the West, gaining and loosing three fortunes. He had relatives in California.

AN old man named Ferguson recently left his wife at San Diego to make love to a fourteen-year-old girl. He went to the house of the girl, but instead of meeting her he was received by her father and brother, who welcomed him in such a manner that he has been confined to his bed since.

THE city of Healdsburg has filed a complaint against George V. Mulligan and his bondsmen, Jas. A. Mead, C. Muller, Frank Koenig, Israel Cook and Robert Haigh. Mulligan, it will be remembered, was City Treasurer, and was found one morning chained to a tree in the Healdsburg Cemetery, where he claimed he had been taken by two men who had forced him to open the Treasury vault and give them the money in it. The city wants judgment for $3,541.49 with interest thereon.

HERE is a "pointer" on advertising taken from an exchange: "Turn that wrapping paper the other side out," said the lady in a dry goods store, as the clerk was putting up her purchase in a wrapping paper. "I don't want to be a walking advertisement for your store. I read the papers, as all intelligent people ought to do, and I think that in them is the place to advertise your business. Instead of asking your customers to carry a sign around with each purchase, tell the people through the papers what you have to sell and how you sell it."

CHRIS. EVANS has surrendered again. He and his companion Morrell were surrounded by Sheriff Kay and a possee at his old home in the suburbs of Visalia last Monday morning. When called upon to surrender he made no resistance and was recaptured without a shot being fired on either side. Hunger and exposure had taken all the sand out of the outlaw's craw, much to the surprise of the general public, who believed that Evans would never be taken alive. It now looks as though the fighting man of the combination was John Sontag and not Chris Evans, as the one went down to his death fighting, while the other has shown the white feather for the second time since escaping from the Fresno Jail. Evans is now safely lodged in the Folsom State Prison,

The San Luis School.

In the little town of Schellville
Our dear old school house does stand;
Where every term the scholars assemble,
From all the surrounding land.

And early in the morning,
When the air is soft and cool,
You'll see the happy children
On their way to school.

The first bell rings at half past eight,
Leave home then and you'll not be late.
The second one rings at 9 o'clock,
And then in march the noisy flock.

They take their seats and sing a song,
Then keep busy all day long;
All save those in their seats in the back,
Who conversational powers never lack.

They shuffle their feet,
Jump around in their seat,
And do everything their teacher to annoy:
But what can be expected of an idle boy.

The girls of course are never bad,
And a whipping or scolding never had.
Over their lessons they'll give a sigh,
But they'll eat an apple on the sly.

SCHOLAR.

Mr. Albert Favorite of Arkansas City, Kan., wishes to give our readers the benefit of his experience with colds. He says: "I contracted a cold early last spring that settled on my lungs, and had hardly recovered from it when I caught another that hung on all summer and left me with a hacking cough which I thought I never would get rid of. I had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy some fourteen years ago with much success, and concluded to try it again. When I had got through with one bottle my cough had left me, and I have not suffered with a cough or cold since. I have recommended it to others, and all speak well of it." 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers.

America's Great Danger

AN ENGLISH COMMENTARY.

Said an eminent English scientist recently: "The danger that confronts the great American people to-day is not the possible adoption of a wrong financial policy for the nation, or the spread of socialism, or the increase of corruption among public men. All these are bad enough, to be sure, but they are as nothing compared to the terrible national disease—I had almost said national crime—of overwork. The mad rush for wealth is set at a killing pace, and thousands fall by the way every year.

You are likely to be one of the victims!

How do we know? Because it is the exception to find a man or woman of adult age in perfect health. Nervous Disorders are spreading with fearful rapidity. Among the symptoms, are—Backache, Biliousness, Cold Hands and Feet, Dizziness, Hot Flashes, Fluttering Sensation, Fainting, Headache, Hysteria, Irritability of the Heart, Melancholy, Failing Memory, Palpitation, Rheumatism, Short Breath, Sleeplessness, Nervous Dyspepsia, Sexual Debility, Fits, etc.

REV. C. A. CARROLL, pastor First Baptist Church, Yellow Springs, O., writes as follows: "I have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine for the past six months. I find it acts like a charm on the whole nervous system. I have not found its equal in giving immediate relief. Dr. Miles' little Nerve and Liver Pills only need a trial and they will recommend themselves to be the best pills in the market."

"For five years I have suffered from Nervous Prostration, I was unable to work or sleep. The first dose of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine gave me relief, and one thousand dollars would not cover the good it has done me."—JOHN MINCHER, Youngstown, Ohio.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is unequalled in CURING Nervous Diseases. It contains no opiates or dangerous drugs. Sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

For sale at Wegner's Drug Store.

Mr. C. F. Davis, editor of the Bloomfield, Iowa, Farmer, says: "I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all sufferers with colds and croup. I have used it in my family for the past two years and have found it the best I ever used for the purposes for which it is intended. 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and muscous surfaces of the stytem, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

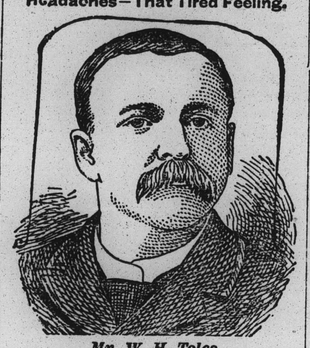
Well and Happy

Thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla—Dull Headaches—That Tired Feeling.



Mr. W. H. Toles
San Francisco, Cal.

"One of the greatest mistakes people make is to lock the door after the horse is stolen, or in other words, to wait until they are sick in bed before they do anything for the poor body. Neither my wife nor myself were real sick; I attended to my business, and my wife to her household duties daily. But we had dull, heavy headaches, and a little over-exertion would tire us greatly, and my appetite was very poor. So we took three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the result was perfectly satisfactory. I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla

Saved Us a Severe Sickness

And a big doctor's bill. If people would only remember that 'an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure,' there would be less suffering in the world. My advice to all who do not feel well is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla according to directions, and you will be well and happy." W. H. TOLES, 145 12th St., San Francisco, Cal.

A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

Senator Jones Inspects His Reclaimed Lands South of Sonoma.

United States Senator John P. Jones came up from San Francisco in a special car last Tuesday evening to inspect his farm and the reclaimed lands bordering Sonoma Creek south of town. He was accompanied by his brother-in-law L. Hamilton of Gold Hill, Nevada. On Wednesday, in company with Capt. Pless, the Senator made a thorough inspection of the 18,000 acres belonging to the Pacific Reclamation Company, of which he is the principal stockholder, the steamer Santa Monica being used to navigate Sonoma Creek and the adjacent streams which surround the tract.

The visit of Senator Jones is fraught with much importance to the people of this valley as it will ultimately lead to the reclamation and cultivation of the entire tract and the establishment thereon of numerous small farms. This would add materially to the wealth and population of Sonoma Valley, besides giving employment at the outset to a large number of men at remunerative wages.

The Senator's stay was brief as he left of San Francisco on Wednesday afternoon.

SONOMA AT THE MIDWINTER FAIR.

A Fine Exhibit of the Diversified Products of the County.

The San Francisco Chronicle of the 19th inst., has this to say of Sonoma's exhibit at the Midwinter Fair :

There is little need to draw the attention of visitors to Sonoma county section under the dome of the Horticultural and Agricultural building. It is the largest section there, and one of the most elaborate and beautiful in its appointments. It is not completed yet, but when it is, even Californians will be surprised at the county's wealth of natural resources. The decoration of the booth is artistic and unique. The ceilings and columns are bordered and adorned with corn of various colors and with grain grown in the county. The name of the county is worked in corn. The effect of the whole is dainty.

At one end of the section are five wine cellars, one for each of the five great vineyards in the county. The exhibit of wine, it is promised, will be as great, if not greater than that made by any other county in California. The central decoration of the county display is a bridge made of prunes. It spans the two main arches leading into the section. It is a minature of the bridge which crosses the Russian River at Healdsburg. It has been made by the ladies of Healdsburg, and is easily one of the most conspicuous objects under the dome.

The superintendent of the section expects a great many visitors to the section over which he has charge, and he has taken steps to make them welcome. In the very center of the section will be a reception room furnished in every way for the comfort and convenience of those who accept the hospitality of the county. People from the county have not yet begun to arrive in great numbers, but several large excursions are expected within a very short time. Among those who have made a critical inspection of the section in the last few days are J. G. Heald of Healdsburg, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Overton of Santa Rosa and Robert Hall of Sonoma.

Sonoma very seldom brags of her oranges, but she has many which will stand comparison with those produced in any other part of the State. An excellent illustration of the fact may have been seen for the last few days by all who cared to look at that arcade of the Horticulture and Agriculture building. At the main entrance is an orange tree loaded down with its fruit. It is only three years old, but it has thirty-two unusually large oranges upon its branches. It was sent to the fair by M. Menihan of Cloverdale.

THE NEW REVENUE COLLECTOR.

Waverly Stairly Takes Possession of His Office.

Waverly Stairly, recently appointed by President Cleveland Collector of the Fourth Internal Revenue District, entered upon the duties of his office last Monday morning.

It is stated that all of Collector Byington's appointees will be kept in office until March 1st, when a general change will be made to give place to Democrats. The bonded warehouse keepership at this place will be given to Geo. W. Sparks, who is not only deserving but competent to fill the position.

A certain cure for malarial fevers is found in Simmons Liver Regulator.

MUST PAY.

Judge Dougherty Decides the Inheritance Tax to be Constitutional.

Mary J. French of Los Angeles, who was left $5,000 by the late Wm. H. Graves of this place, recently made application to Wm. Alvord, the executor of the estate, for the money. The executor proffered her to $5,000, less $250, which latter sum covered the 5 per cent tax placed upon such legacies by the last Legislature. The offer was refused and Mrs. French brought suit in the Superior Court of this county to compel the payment to her of the entire legacy, claiming that the 5 per cent tax was unconstitutional.

Judge Dougherty on Saturday last rendered a lengthy decision in the case which upholds the validity of the act. Mrs. French has no other recourse now except to take the $5,000, less the $250 tax, or carry the case up to the Supreme Court. As Judge Dougherty is not in the habit of having his decisions reversed by the higher court it is probable that the Supreme Court will concur in his decision should that tribunal pass judgment on the constitutionality of the new law.

The law in substance provides that all property which shall pass by will or descent upon the death of a resident of the State, or if not a resident which shall be situated in this State, to any person other than the father or mother, husband, wife, children, brother, sister, the wife or widow of a son or the husband of a daughter, adopted children, and any lineal descendant of such decedent born in lawful wedlock, or societies, corporations and institutions not exempted by law from taxation shall be subject to a tax of five dollars on every one hundred dollars to be collected for the use of the State. The law also provides that all property that is transferred by deed, grant, sale or gift, made in contemplation of death or intended to take effect after death, shall be subject to such tax. The law does not apply to estates which may be valued at less than $500.

The decision is an important one and has been looked forward to with much interest by a number of residents in this valley who were left legacies by the late Mrs. Robt. C. Johnson, in sums varying between $1,000 and $5,000, among whom we may mention Jos. Schorr, $5,000; Rev. Father Brennan, $3,000; Mary Gill, $5,000; John Gottenberg, $1.000; John Burke, $1,000; Presentation Convent, $5.000.

The Late Storm.

The precipitation during the storm of last Monday was tremendous, and between 8 A. M. and 12 M. over an inch of rain fell. The streams throughout the valley rose very rapidly and in a few hours Sonoma Creek was running bank full. For a time it was thought that the iron bridge at the foot of Napa street would be carried away, but a sudden subsidence of the waters of Sonoma Creek saved the structure. At present the bridge is impassable and will surely go down stream should there be another freshet before the damage can be repaired.

The rainfall for the storm was 1.72 inches; for the month of February, 3 96 inches, and for the season 23.35 inches.

The High School.

The High School was removed from the district school house to the old college building on Broadway last Wednesday. The removal gives great dissatisfaction to the patrons of the school, as the building is not considered safe, and if put in proper repair would cost the tax-payers a good round sum.

SCHELLVILLE SIFTINGS.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, FEB. 24, 1894.

WHAT THE BIRDS EAT.

Professor Washburn Divides the Feathered Tribes Into Three Classes.

Professor E. L. Washburn of the State Agricultural college read a paper before the State Horticultural society on "Birds and the Horticulturist," in which, after showing the result of many painstaking experiments in examining birds' stomachs, etc., he goes on to say:

Summarizing from what has been done in this line elsewhere and from personal observation, it would seem that we might classify the commoner birds in rather vaguely defined groups, it is true, under four heads. We would, however, reserve the privilege of condemning any bird when it became a veritable nuisance to the fruit grower.

Under "Birds Worthy of Our Protection" I would place the robin, bluebird, all the sparrows (except the English sparrow), bullocks, oriole, all flycatchers and vireos, swallows, most of the woodpeckers, most of the thrushes, the red tailed hawk, the red shouldered hawk, Swainson's hawk or buzzard, marsh hawk, sparrow hawk, long eared owl, short eared owl, barred owl and the screech owl.

Under "Birds Probably Beneficial" we might place the following: Blackbirds, red shafted flicker, kingbird (found in parts of eastern Oregon), cherry bird or cedar bird, the horned lark, black winged yellowbird, or "wild canary;" China pheasants, quail, ruffled grouse or "native pheasant," blue grouse and great horned owl.

Under "Doubtful" I would place the jays, crows, meadow lark, black headed grosbeak, "ground dove," golden eagle, bald eagle.

And under "Decidedly Bad" I should unhesitatingly place the purple linnet, or "cherry thief," the woodpecker called the "sap sucker," Cooper's hawk and sharp shinned hawk.

In considering the above arbitrary divisions it should be borne in mind that many birds placed in the "Doubtful" column may really deserve a better place, though the examination of stomachs have not extended through a long enough time to show this. The eagles, for instance, in localities where their natural food is abundant are undoubtedly beneficial. It is only when this supply is cut off that they become injurious. The China pheasant is reported to me by some as consuming much grain, feeding on fruit and garden stuff and even pulling up young pear and peach pits just sprouted. Yet the bulk of testimony seems to point to the fact that all of our game birds consume enough injurious insects to more than balance their bad qualities. Gunners in this vicinity assure me that they find many grasshoppers in the crop and stomach of Denny pheasants, and one man mentions seeing these birds hunting a field for hoppers much after the manner of turkeys.

Of the English sparrow I can say nothing good and trust it may never get a foothold in Portland or elsewhere in Oregon. It is noisy, pugnacious and dirty, and though it has a penchant for canker worms it drives away other birds which prey upon pests for which an English sparrow has no liking.—Portland Oregonian.

Almost a Tragedy.

He had asked her to be his wife—he, the humble clerk at the ribbon counter, and she, the scornful aristocrat—and she had rejected him utterly.

"Heartless wretch!" he exclaimed, shaking his clinched hands.

"Leave me," she commanded imperiously.

"Never, while I have life!" he hoarsely hissed.

"I shall go mad!" he shrieked.

"Coward! Villain! Wretch!" she muttered in threatening tones.

A cold, cruel, sarcastic smile came into her high bred face, and she looked down on him disdainfully.

"Don't do it," she pleaded ironically. "Go in good humor. There's the door. Ta ta," and as he turned his eyes once more upon her that imperious finger transfixed him, and he obeyed her.—Detroit Free Press.

How Bismarck Got There.

Bismarck has had some odd experiences in his varied life, but the following perhaps was the queerest. He had been invited to a court dinner by the czar at the Imperial Summer palace. He missed the train from St. Petersburg, and finding that he could not reach the palace in time, and that the delay in heating up a locomotive would be very great, he jumped on a handcar. The station master and a couple of workmen assisted the prince to work the engine, he taking turns with the rest of them. He arrived safely in time for the dinner, and Bismarck expressed his thanks to the men with 50 rubles, while to the station master he sent 1,000 fine cigars.

French Spoken Here.

A somewhat pretentious youth was enlarging in Professor Jowett's presence on "our debt to France." To France we owe our art, the best of our literature, etc. "Do you know," said Jowett, "what is inscribed over the gate of hell?" The youth quoted Dante's well known line. "No," was the reply, "the inscription is 'Ici on parle Français.'"—San Francisco Argonaut.

A Photographer's Reminiscences.

Phillips Brooks was the one celebrity who did not wish his photograph put out for sale. "You may sell them to the Harvard students, but to no one else," was his command. Possibly this was one of the reasons why "crimson's men" so reverenced him. But the students were not true to their trust. They could not resist the coaxing of friends who wanted a portrait of the great pastor of Trinity to rest upon their mantelpieces.

There are two rules which must be invariably followed in order to make a strong and true photograph. First, the photographer must understand the face of his subject; second, he must know how to pose that face so as to bring out its striking qualities. Sometimes a striking view is caught in a glance; again it requires a quarter of an hour.

Joseph Jefferson is the same good fellow when he is having his picture taken that he is always. We chatted during the whole time of our last sitting. Directly he looked up to say, "When are you going to take the picture?" "I have taken two already," I replied. "Wonderful!" he cried. Just as he closed his lips I snapped the camera and got the best picture ever made of him.—G. Pach in New York Herald.

Oysters as Food.

Speaking roughly, a quart of oysters contains on the average about the same quantity of actual nutritive substance as a quart of milk or a pound and a half of fresh codfish or two-thirds of a pound of bread. But while the weight of actual nutriment in the different quantities of food material named is very nearly the same, the quality is widely different. That of the very lean meat or codfish consists mostly of what are called in chemical language protein compounds, or "flesh formers"—the substances which make blood, muscle, tendon, bone, brain and other nitrogenous tissues. That of the bread contains but little of these and consists chiefly of starch, with a little fat and other compounds, which serve the body as fuel and supply it with heat and muscular power. The nutritive substance of oysters contains considerable of both the flesh forming and the more especially heat and force giving ingredients. Oysters come nearer to milk than almost any other common food. Their values for supplying the body with material to build up its parts, repair its wastes and furnish it with heat and energy would be pretty nearly the same.—Exchange.

Etching Photographs on Glass.

It is now found that in the art of etching photographs on glass a very satisfactory result may be secured by covering the surface with a solution of gum made sensitive with bichromate of potash, and printing the same under a negative. After the image has in this manner been produced, it is dusted over with minium or red lead, and the red picture which is thus obtained is fixed and burned according to the usual process. The easily soluble red glass which comes from this method is treated with strong sulphuric acid, when a white matte design is produced, and the picture appears by transmitted light as a positive. Some specimens in this line by German artists are described as exhibiting superior merit, as compared with those produced by ordinary means.—New York Sun.

A Fable and a Moral.

A cock, scratching for food for himself and his hens, found a precious stone, on which he said: "If your owner had found thee and not I, he would have taken thee up and set thee in thy first estate, but I have found thee for no purpose. I would rather have one barleycorn than all the jewels in the world. However, on second consideration, thou wilt make a good addition to the gravel that is in my craw and may help to correct the slight dyspepsia that has troubled me of late." This said, the cock ceased moralizing and swallowed the jewel.

Moral—There are a great many people who wear diamonds for their health.—Hallo.

A Race Cup.

A well dressed man entered a jeweler's and asked if he could see "those cups in the window," pointing as he spoke to some silver cups lined with gold.

"These," said the jeweler, handing him one, "are race cups."

"Race cups? What are race cups?"

"Why," replied the jeweler, "they are cups I had ordered to be made for prizes for the best racer."

"Well, if that's so, suppose you and I race for one," and with a cup he started, and the jeweler after him.—London Tit-Bits.

Earned a Coffin.

A Winston citizen employed a colored man to help him move his household effects. When the job was completed, the employer told the man that he had no money to pay him; that the only thing he had to spare for his services was a coffin. The old darky, after considering the proposition for some time, accepted the offer. He picked up the coffin and carried it to the colored undertaker, with whom he made a trade to sell his piece of property on commission.—Winston (N. C.) Sentinel.

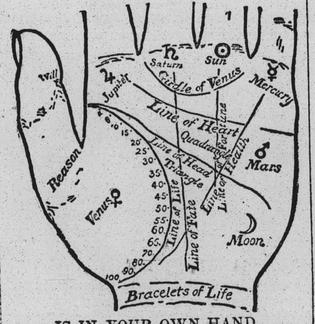
YOUR FUTURE



IS IN YOUR OWN HAND.

Palmistry assumes to tell what the lines in your hand indicate. It will amuse you, if nothing more. The above diagram almost explains itself. The length of the LINE OF LIFE indicates probable age to which you will live. Each BRACELET gives you thirty years. Well-marked LINE OF HEAD denotes brain power; clear LINE OF FORTUNE fame or riches. Both combined mean success in life; but you must keep up with modern ideas to win it. You will find plenty of these in Demorest's Family Magazine, so attractively presented that every member of the family is entertained. It is a dozen magazines in one. A CLEAR LINE OF HEART bespeaks tenderness; a straight LINE OF FATE, peaceful life; the reverse if crooked. A well-defined LINE OF HEALTH spares you doctors' bills; so will the health hints in Demorest's. No other magazine publishes so many stories to interest the home circle. You will be subject to extremes of high spirits or despondency if you have the GIRDLE OF VENUS well marked: keep up your spirits by having Demorest's Magazine to read. By subscribing to it for 1894 you will receive a gallery of exquisite works of art of great value, besides the enperb premium picture, 17x22 inches, "I'm a Daisy!" which is almost a real baby, and equal to the original oil painting which cost $3 00; and you will have a magazine that cannot be equaled by any in the world for its beautiful illustrations and subject matter, that will keep you posted on all the topics of the day, and all the fads, and different items of interest about the household, besides furnishing interesting reading matter, both grave and gay, for the whole family; and while Demorest's is not a fashion magazine, its fashion pages are perfect, and you get with it, free of cost, all the patterns you wish to use during the year, and in any size you choose. Send in your subscription at once, only $2.00, and you will really get over $25.00 in value. Address the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th St., New York. If you are unacquainted with the Magazine, send for a specimen copy. A large QUADRANGLE means honesty; a large TRIANGLE, generosity; long FIRST DIVISION OF THUMB, strong will; LONG SECOND DIVISION, reasoning faculty. The MOUNT OF JUPITER betokens ambition; that of SATURN, prudence; the SUN, love of splendor; MARS, courage; MOON, imagination; VENUS, love of pleasure; and MERCURY, intelligence. Take our advice as above and you will be sure to possess the last and most valuable quality.

Dear Sirs:—I have used your KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE for the last twelve years never being without it but a few weeks in that time and I have made several wonderful cures with it. I cured a Curb of long standing. Then I had a four year old colt badly Sweenied; tried every thing without any benefit, so I tried your liniment, and in a few weeks he was well and his shoulder filled up all right, and the other, a four year old that had a Thoroughpin and Blood Spavin on the same joint, and to-day no one can tell which leg it was on. These statements can be proven, if necessary; the four year olds are now seven and can be seen any day at Cottage Grove, Or. S. L. PAXTON.
